In Young Adult Fiction Core Collection, the editors, Kendal Spires and Julie Corsaro, have included over 3,000 short summaries of young adult titles gleaned from EBSCOhost databases.

In part 1 of the work, the titles are arranged alphabetically by author last name. A star icon next to the title denotes the essential titles for a YA collection. Each title includes a summary, sometimes taken from another source. Additionally, for many titles there is also an evaluation of the title from an outside source (for example, School Library Journal)...

Also included is a list of Printz Award winners which is given annually by the Young Adult Library Services Association (YALSA), a division of the American Library Association (ALA)... There is also a list of Morris Award winners. This award is given to a first-time author writing for young adults.”
